Remembering Sacrifices

As we leave the old year behind us, and as I am stepping down from the Board of Trustees, let us remember the efforts that so many of us have selflessly given to preserve the history of Liberty & Washington townships. Our depot is steadily being restored to its turn-of-the-century appearance, and each year, our historical pageant during the Liberty Center Fall Festival, thanks to Louisa Strock's dedication, teaches the audience about the rich cultural heritage we all share.

We also remember, nationally AND locally, the sacrifices that our families endured during the war of 1812 and the Civil War. 200 years ago at Prairie-du-Masque along the Maumee River, the native Ottawa peoples were dealing with turmoil between the English and Americans—not knowing that their village would become “Damascus” after the war. And 150 years ago in 1861, one would see Texas, OH booming with business, with overland travel on County Road 4A between the canal and the new railroad depot at Washington Station (later, Colton).

During the Civil War anniversary, another important Sesquicentennial will be taking place—very close to home, so read this newsletter to find more details!

Sincerely,

Larry Lanzer, outgoing society president

Civil War 150

From April 2011 through December of 2015, the United States will be remembering our nation's civil war. Battle re-enactments, beginning with the firing on Fort Sumter will be occurring in chronological order. The Ohio Historical Society has organized the remembrance Ohio's involvement in the war and at home at www.OhioCivilWar150.org.

Locally, historical groups in Defiance, Fulton, Henry and Williams Counties have organized exhibits and events for each year, and they can be seen on schedules at each county library, historical society, and on-line on Facebook. Just type in the keyword, Northwest Ohio Military Events” and plan your journey back in time!

“Uncle Sam” participates in the Liberty Center entry of the Northwest Ohio Volunteer Fireman's Convention Parade. The Liberty Center Fire Department began in 1908.

The “Liberty Center Experience” on Facebook

If you have ever lived in the Liberty Center School District, you will want to join the Facebook page, “Liberty Center Experience” This group started as a social network of Liberty Center High School Alumni, and is growing to embrace the same preservation goals as The Liberty Center Historical Society. Members share photographs from old Liberty Press articles, school annuals, and private collections of Liberty Center, Colton, and Texas area photographs. Join the discussions about memories of these people and places!

Our group is working with this group to revive the tradition of an Alumni Banquet and combine our historical society's annual meeting in June of 2011 at the Liberty Center High School. Read more news in “The Liberty Press” as the date grows closer.

Before the Liberty Center Tiger High School baseball team, there were the Black Pirates, a men's team made from residents of all ages.

Planning a Birthday Party 1863 - 2013

The Civil War will not have the only sesquicentennial event in the year 2013. During the last two bloody years of the war, land developers in Northwest Ohio were busy along the Toledo & Wabash Railway making financial profits. At that time, stations only existed in Maumee City, Washington Station (Colton) and Napoleon, OH. During 1863, Alphaes Buchanan, whose parents owned a farm at the northeast corner of what is now county road T and State Route 109, registered the first 12 lots that created "Liberty Center". The village of Whitehouse followed suit the following year, creating new mid-points between the three existing station stops.

Our historical society will now start planning the year-long celebration of Liberty Center's Sesquicentennial. A logo, motto, merchandise, and a commemorative booklet will be developed. All area groups are encouraged to incorporate this "birthday" theme into their annual events in 2013.

History at Your Fingertips

An article from the Toledo Blade, Sunday, March 7, 2010

In 1854, when the first railroad was built through Liberty and Washington Townships, Samuel Morse's invention had only been 10 years old—ending the need for the "Pony Express". "The telegraph was the Victorian Internet. You're doing the same thing now (texting on cell phones), but it doesn't require the same skills," said Byron Stickles. Stickles signed on in 1950 as a telegrapher, earning $15 a week while being schooled by Roy Engler (who had created Sunshine Children's Home in 1949).

Within four months, Stickles had found work with the Wabash Railway Company -- transmitting messages about railroad business and telegrams, loading and unloading mail bags, and selling and punching train tickets. Stickles worked both rural and urban stations in Indiana and northwest Ohio—including Liberty Center. When he quit in 1966, he was general agent for the Norfolk and Western Railway Toledo Terminal. Today, Stickles lives in Maumee, OH and collects antique telegraph equipment.

Today's cell phone texting abbreviations are not a new invention. Here are some texting Abbreviations used by railway telegraphers for many years:

TNX	= Thanks	PLS	= Please
HR	= Here	MIN	= Wait a minute
GTEM	= Got it (I have it)	MSG	= Message
NM	= No more	GG	= Going
GA	= Go Ahead	C	= See
C EM CMG	= I see them coming	CY	= Copy this down
